

Under water, Argyroneta changes from a drab little sluggish creature into a swiftly moving, silvery swimmer, often as agile as the water creatures for which she goes fishing.