

"... we trekked across a beach jumbled with big slippery boulders, and, there, lying right among them, was the ammonite ... It was like a work of art."
Photo by G. L. Kennedy

4

"His assistant, who was on the beach with us, hooked the cargo sling to the cable ..."
Photo by G. L. Kennedy.

"... and Dick zoomed away, trailing the ammonite beneath him in a lovely arc."
Photo by G. L. Kennedy.

"After horsing the ammonite onto the tire, we made an oriole nest-like sling for it with the ropes and poles and then painfully shouldered this contrivance over the slippery rocks, with frequent stops for rest ..."
Photo by G. L. Kennedy.

